

what they're wearing

TURN THE TABLES LUNCHEON

Centerport interior designer Amal Kapen, left, wore a Ralph Lauren denim dress, Saks Fifth Avenue shoes and Oliver Peoples glasses to the recent Turn the Tables Luncheon, a benefit for the Junior Welfare League's Camp for Kids Program held at the Huntington Country Club. "Wrap dresses are great daytime party dresses," said Kapen, co-chair of the event.

MARISOL DIAZ

"Very springlike" was how Huntington's Loveleen Loria, right, league president, described her luncheon attire — a top by Patrizia Pepe, slacks by The Pant Co. and shoes by Via Spiga.

MARISOL DIAZ

Nancy Montelli, above, a homemaker from Greenlawn, posed in a blouse and jacket by J.Crew, a skirt by Who What Wear from Target and shoes by Karen Millen. She said her outfit felt "eclectic and classic, all in one."

MARISOL DIAZ

MARISOL DIAZ

Huntington resident Andrea Boccard, above, a marketing director, chose a Julie Brown dress and Sam Edelman half-suede, half-leather shoes. She said her 3-year-old son picked out her outfit. "He inspires me," she said.

Manhattan's Meredith Lewis, left, who runs the Glen Cove-based Lewis Design Group with her mother, Barbara, came in an embroidered Jonathan Simkhai blouse, Helmut Lang pants and Manolo Blahnik shoes. "I feel relaxed, effortless and chic," she said.

MARISOL DIAZ

beautyspot { NEW LINES }

Makeup artist Cynthia Sansone's Life on Mars line (yes, she's a Bowie fan) covers cheeks, lips and nails — and a portion of proceeds benefits Mondays at Racine, a charity offering free beauty services to cancer patients. Lady Stardust polish, $16, at Racine Salon, Islip; lifeonmarsbeauty.com

Beautiful Rights lip-care line includes Gloss Ceiling lip gloss, Pantsuit Pink and Politically Pout lipsticks, and 20 percent of all sales goes to various women's rights organizations (Planned Parenthood, Emily's List, ACLU); $24 each ($64 for the trio), at beautifulrights.com

Celebrity hairstylist Kristin Ess launched her namesake hair-care line this winter, offering 15 products ($10 to $14) with a strand-strengthening Zip-Up blend of chia seeds, pea protein and algae; this pomade, $10, exclusively at Target stores, target.com

A Complete, from renowned Mexican businesswoman and philanthropist Angélica Fuentes, offers skin care inspired by the Mediterranean diet and lifestyle. The Youth Preserve Routine kit features soap-free cleanser, eye cream, serum, moisturizer and more; $190, at acomplete.com

— JOSEPH V. AMODIO